

How to Play:

1. Seat everyone participating in the gift exchange game in a circle.
2. Each person should be holding their gift in their lap.
3. Instruct the participants that you are going to read a Disney Christmas story and when you say the words “LEFT” or “RIGHT” they should pass their gifts to the person on the left or right depending on the word you say.
4. Read the story and watch the fun!

Mickey was happy he found the RIGHT presents for all his friends, now I hope he found the RIGHT present for you too!
